Peabody, president of the Mutual Life, a diploma. and one of the most active Harriman adherents, it became known, was personal counsel for Stuyvesant Fish for twenty years prior to their disagreement regarding the extent of the disclosures of Mutual Life affairs.

Mr. Fish advocated wide publicity for the researches of the Mutual Life investigating committee and a stringent investigation. Mr. Peabody did not stand successfully opposed to Mr. Fish's efforts.

"Mr. Peabody,' said Mr. Fish to-day "was counsel in all matters affecting my own property and in all matters affecting the property of my father for twenty years prior to this life insurance matter. He was the trusted and tried family attorney. He drew up every legal paper affecting a loan made by me or by the ual or as an officer of the Illinois Central as far as my personal relations with the Illinois Central were concerned.

"Mr. Peabody." he replied, "must settle that with his own conscience. My issues, as in the past, are with Mr. Harriman. He is a candidate for re-election as a director of the Illinois Central. Mr. Peabody is not. Peabody affairs are not germane to the real issue."

Mr. Fish rounded up a busy day by sending a circular to Illinois Central stockholders in reply to the accusations made against him by the Harriman directors last week. The circular was in part as follows: "I freely challenge a comparison of my administration of your affairs with that of any other persons charged with any other trust.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. 8. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau,
Washington, D. C., Dec. 6, 1907—8 p. m.
The weather has been fair in all parts of the country east of the Rocky Mountains, except in Texas, where rain has fallen. West of the Rocky Mountains, especially in the Pacific Coast States, stormy weather, with high winds and rains, has alternated with a day or so of fair weather for nearly a week past; none of the storms has, however, succeeded in crossing the Rocky Mountains. There has been a general recovery from the low temperatures of Thursday in Eastern and Central districts, but the temperatures in the South are still below the seasonal average.
The weather Saturday and Sunday east of the Rocky Mountains is likely to be fair, except in the Guif States, where local rains are probable.
The temperature will rise in Atlantic coast districts and the East Gulf States Saturday, and there will be little change in other parts of the country Saturday or Sunday.
The winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic coasts will be light to fresh westerly; on the South Atlantic coast light and variable; on the East Gulf coast fresh easterly; on the Lower Lakes fresh westerly, and on the Upper Lakes fresh southwest to west.
